A committee led by Professor Helge Jordheim has proposed a new language policy for the University of Oslo. You can read more about the work leading up to the proposal on this page.

The deadline for providing input is 11 October. All responses will be published on www.uio.no.

Provide your input to the new language policy for UiO

Language is a wider subject and needs not only good class room teaching but creation of environment which will ensure foreign permanent faculty learn the language. Needs to provide such environment such as institute or departmental mentors to talk to and need for consideration of the time needed. Two years is not enough given that the faculty needs also to engage from day 1 in teaching and research. Consideration for say 5 years should be given.

Language has also been a great source of discrimination in such a way that even discrimination reporting platforms and forms are not entirely available in English or other major languages .
