

Greek historiography (GRE 2404)

Spring 2018

Instructor: Boris Maslov

This class will focus on the three historical writers of the Classical period: Xenophon, Herodotus, and Thucydides. We will become acquainted with their style, in particular their diction and syntax, as well as with the main themes of their works. Our particular focus will be on the representation of political power and idealized human actors, as well as on various accounts of historical change and motivation.
