

Exam KIN4520 spring 2020

Information

You must write a paper of 3000 words plus front page and list of references.

Exam question

Taking this short article by Xie Tao published in The Diplomat (not available in 2024) as a starting point, discuss how modern notions of race and pre-modern Chinese perceptions of cultural difference permeate the construction of Chinese identity today and, consequently, play a part in domestic and international politics.

Your discussion needs to be based on at least three of the texts read in class as well as two other relevant internationally published academic publications. At least two of the academic texts should be in Chinese.