

Choose one (or two) motif and/or theme in one or more of the myths and stories that we have analyzed and argue for functional connections ('parallels' – negative or positive) to other motifs or themes in the same text or in any of the other texts.

Any claim of functional connections ('parallels') should contain three arguments.