RSOS2953 – Legal Anthropology

Disclosure of exam assignment: November 9 at 1:00 PM

Submission deadline: November 12 at 1:00 PM

Exam paper

Answer the following topic:

"Whether and to what extent legal pluralism prevents or may promote human rights is a contested issue. How can legal anthropology help us understand conflicts and tensions between human rights standards and local norms and practices. Make use of case studies on topics like access to courts, access to protection against gender violence or access to resources like land and water."

The question can be answered in English, Norwegian, Danish or Swedish.

Size: Maximum 2000 words (roughly 5 pages). Front page, contents page (optional) and bibliography are not included. If footnotes are used in the text (at the bottom of each page), they are included in the 2000 word limit. Papers that exceed the 2000 word limit will be disallowed.

Cheating: Any exam at the University of Oslo is being checked for both correct word count and incidents of cheating. Text recognition software will be used to find cases of plagiarism. Failure to cite sources or highlight quotes in any assignments that are handed in is considered cheating. You must cite the source if you obtain data, reasoning and arguments from the literature, syllabus and web pages. Short or long pieces of text quoted verbatim from other sources must be italicised so that it is obvious that it is a quote.

Submit your exam: The essays shall be handed in electronically in Inpera. Exams at the University of Oslo are anonymous. Instead of your name, write your candidate number found in StudentWeb.
